

Giving Yourself Compassion for a Difficult Situation

Guided Meditation Script

Date / Time:

So far today, have you brought kind awareness to your:

Thoughts?  Heart?  Body?  None

To begin this Meditation, please bring kind awareness to

- why you chose this topic
- how your belly, chest, and head each feel when you reflect on this topic
- the emotions that you can associate with these visceral feelings
- the positive or negative impact of any stories you believe in regarding this topic
- the fact that many others are feeling similarly about this topic as you
- how you might feel with increased awareness around this topic
- when you can apply increased mindfulness to this topic in your day-to-day life

Giving Yourself Compassion for a Difficult Situation

Let's begin by taking a moment to settle our body into a comfortable position. You may close your eyes or keep them slightly open with a soft focus looking downward a few feet in front of you. Allow your spine to lift and your shoulders to soften (2 seconds).

Today we will practice self compassion.

Taking a full breath in (2 seconds) and a long slow breath out (2 seconds).

I invite you to think of a situation in your life right now that's difficult.

Maybe you are feeling a little stressed or you're worried about something happening or perhaps there's tension in one of your relationships.

This practice is only for a few minutes, so choose something that isn't too difficult (2 seconds).

Bring this challenging situation to mind.

What happened or what do you think might happen?

And now that you're holding this in your mind, I invite you to consider these things (2 seconds).

First, simply acknowledge that this is a difficult situation.

Find language that works for you to label what's happening right now.

Perhaps this is a really tough situation.

Maybe I feel a little afraid about this.

Just bring mindful awareness to what's happening right now (2 seconds).

Next, acknowledge that difficulty is a part of life.

It's something that you've experienced before and everyone around you has experienced before too (2 seconds).

Guided Meditation Script

Giving Yourself Compassion for a Difficult Situation

Remind yourself of our common humanity.

That difficulty is a part of our experience and like everything else, it will shift (5 seconds).

Finally, I invite you to say to yourself from your mind,

“May I be kind to myself in this moment.” (2 seconds)

Acknowledge that no matter how hard the situation is you can still be kind to yourself. (5 seconds)

Use any language you'd like that supports this sense of kindness.

Perhaps choose wording you would offer to a friend going through something similar.

I'm here for you. (2 seconds)

It's going to be okay. (2 seconds)

You are loved. (2 seconds)

And if you like, rest your hand on your heart, offering kindness to yourself. (5 seconds)

Take a moment to take that kindness in (5 seconds), breathing in (2 seconds) breathing out (2 seconds), breathing in (2 seconds), breathing out (2 seconds).

And now with that recognition of compassion for yourself, finish with a full deep breath in (2 seconds) and a long slow breath out (3 seconds) *ding* (15 seconds).

Integrated Practice:

Write for 2 full minutes for each journaling prompt below. Once you've finished, take a minute to reread what you wrote and reflect.

Journaling Prompts:

1. Areas of my life where I can be more forgiving are ...

2. If I were more forgiving of these areas, it would allow me to ...
